Extended layover? After some extra reading material? Check out past issues of SYD Magazine here.

There's a particular pleasure in airport time when it's well spent. At Sydney Airport, our retail offerings are an opportunity to browse, discover and choose well before you fly.

Across these pages, we explore an edit of essentials and indulgences that sit side by side: beauty to travel must-haves, fashion to accessories, something special to gift or share. The offering is broad, but the experience is thoughtful, elevated and easy to navigate in the moments between security and boarding.

Dining, too, plays its part, with new precincts inviting you to pause and savour rather than simply pass through. With ongoing terminal upgrades and new arrivals continuing to shape the experience, SYD is evolving, and we want you there with us.

As you move through the terminals, we hope these pages inspire you to linger and discover something unexpected. Join us again for another considered look at what's waiting for you at Sydney Airport.

FOR THE KIDS

KIDS SPOT

Make family travel easier and more enjoyable with smart tips to keep little ones comfortable, entertained and happy, turning every airport journey into a memorable start to your adventure.

TIP 1

PACK A KIDS' PLAY KIT

One of the easiest ways to make travel with kids more comfortable is to plan for in-flight entertainment. Packing a small backpack with books, colouring supplies, puzzles, or a tablet loaded with favourite shows can transform the journey, keeping little hands busy and minds engaged. At Sydney Airport, this prep starts even before you board – grab a favourite snack or activity from airport shops to keep boredom at bay. A little planning goes a long way toward a smoother, happier trip for the whole family.

CHECK OUT THE FAMILY ZONE

For families travelling through Sydney Airport, having a dedicated space for kids before boarding is a game-changer. T1 now offers a refreshed family zone at Gate 53, designed for little travellers to relax and be entertained ahead of their flight. The area features ABC Kids programming and a comfortable space for families, with clear sightlines to surrounding gates in Pier C. Conveniently located near bathrooms and water refill stations, it's an ideal spot to unwind, recharge and get everyone settled before you board the plane.

CONSIDER A SNACK PACK

One often-overlooked tip for travelling with kids is to create a "snack kit" tailored to the flight. Pack a mix of favourite bites, small surprises, and easy-to-eat finger foods – think dried fruit, crackers, or a little chocolate. Having this on hand not only keeps hunger at bay but also gives kids something to focus on, helping them settle in and relax more easily once airborne. You can even pick up local treats or favourites from any of the cafés and stores at SYD, turning snack time into a comforting little ritual for the journey ahead.

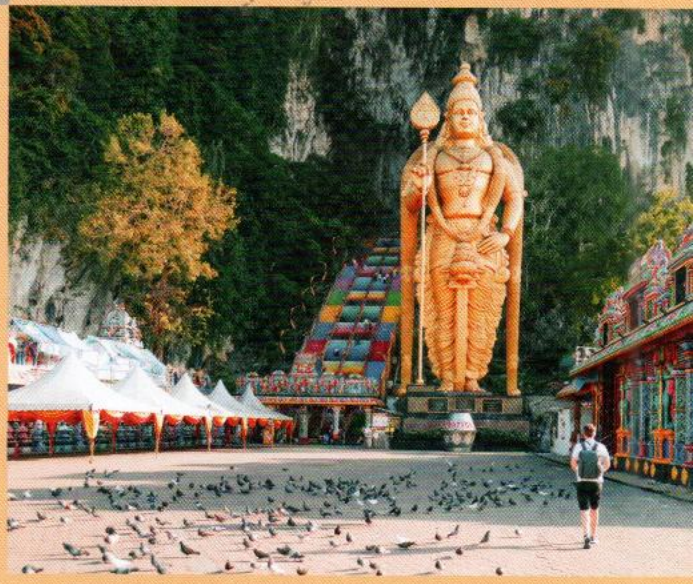
RICH IN DUALITY

Words by LANA AL HABL

Lying across the equator from Australia and connected by only a few hours of flight, Malaysia is a country full of wonderful contrasts, making it one of the most dynamic and discoverable places in the world.

You feel it first in Kuala Lumpur, the capital most Aussies fly into and the place that sets the tempo. The KL skyline is unmistakable, anchored by the Petronas Twin Towers, their steel and glass presence visible from almost anywhere in the city. Yet the towers are just part of the story. At street level, call to prayer drifts across traffic, incense burns at small shrines tucked between shopfronts, and hawker stalls set up for the evening rush beneath office windows. This city doesn't divide its sacred and commercial; it shares the space harmoniously.



Spend an afternoon moving between Merdeka Square, where Malaysia declared independence in 1957, and Chinatown's Petaling Street markets, and you'll see how governance, trade and community sit side by side. Then head to Batu Caves, just outside the city, where a Hindu temple sits within limestone cliffs that predate the skyline by millions of years. The experience is less about sightseeing and more about perspective. Kuala Lumpur builds upward, but it also builds around what was already here.

From there, you can travel north to Penang, where the pace shifts a bit. George Town, a UNESCO World Heritage site, is best explored on foot. Anglican churches, Chinese clan houses, mosques and Hindu temples appear within the same blocks. While heritage shophouses now hold contemporary cafés, design studios and small hotels, their original tiles and timber beams remain intact. Lunch might be eaten at a hawker stall perfected over generations, dinner in a space interpreting those same flavours with a modern eye. Neither feels like a departure from the other.

Even beyond the cities, this pattern of duality holds. In Langkawi, rainforest meets duty-free boutiques and quiet fishing villages. In the Cameron Highlands, tea plantations introduced during British rule continue to shape the landscape, their orderly green rows set against ancient hills. The beauty of Malaysia is that it doesn't frame these layers as contrast, it simply just lives them. As a traveller, you're invited to move through them at your own pace, noticing how naturally they coexist.

↘ GETTING THERE Discover Kuala Lumpur from Sydney Airport with AirAsia X, Batik Air, or Malaysia Airlines, now operating a convenient 3 × daily services and all-new A330neo fleet.

LAYOVER TO

LONG WEEKEND

Turn a Los Angeles stopover into a long weekend, combining LA neighbourhoods with easy escapes to San Francisco, San Diego or Palm Springs.

Arriving in Los Angeles after a transpacific flight can feel disorienting; the light is sharper, the roads wider, the sense of space immediate. Instead of compressing that first impression into a single afternoon, extend it. Book a hotel you're genuinely curious about, whether that's a design-forward address in West Hollywood or something understated near the ocean, and allow yourself time to inhabit the city rather than skim it.

LA reveals itself incrementally. Mornings might begin with coffee in a courtyard before a gallery visit in Culver City; evenings could stretch across rooftop dinners and late screenings. The pleasure lies in choosing one pocket and staying with it, letting the city's vastness remain peripheral rather than overwhelming.

Once grounded, California opens up. A quick hop north delivers you to San Francisco, where steep streets and Victorian façades create a walkable counterpoint to LA's sprawl. Alternatively, take the coastal route south toward San Diego, a city defined by proximity to the Pacific and an easy, outdoor-oriented rhythm that makes even a short stay feel restorative.

For a change of landscape, drive inland to Palm Springs and trade ocean breezes for desert stillness, where sharp-lined architecture and open skies lend clarity to the closing days of your trip.

The distances are manageable, the connections frequent, and the planning straightforward. What shifts is the mindset: the stopover becomes an explorative, multi-city escape and journey.

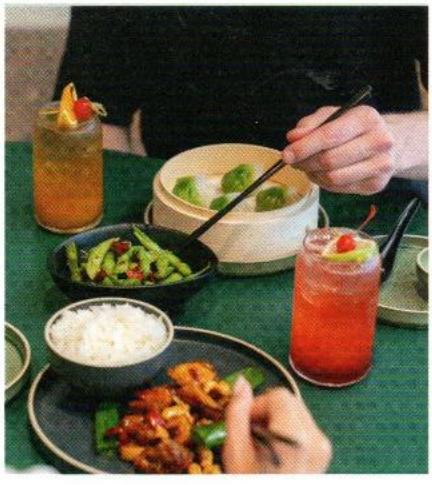
ICEBERGS

An iconic name in Sydney's dining scene, Icebergs Dining Room and Bar has arrived at T3. You'll find it just steps from your gate, ready to upgrade the wait. The menu draws from the flagship — think the Iceburger or Rigatoni Cacio e Pepe — giving your pre-flight window real substance. Order a Negroni, share a plate, and ease into departure.



LOTUS DUMPLING BAR

Lotus Dumpling Bar brings its well-known discipline to the departures hall. The dumplings are handmade; crimped, pleated, folded. The produce is still local, and the service sharp. Flying with friends or family? Lotus is built for the group chat in real life. Order baskets for the table, let the steam rise, pass plates across passports and boarding passes.

MAGGIO'S

Maggio's brings comforting flavours to the table in the way only family-style Italian food can. Gather around fresh pasta, eggs in tomato and basil, or rustic pizza. Sumptuous baskets of pastries and chocolate tortes will make you smile. This is a chance to savour familiarity, a little ritual of comfort before everyone scatters for their flights.

SLIM'S QUALITY BURGER

Sitting down to a burger and fries brings comfort to travel. Combo meals and shakes are made for sharing, giving family and friends something familiar to enjoy together. At Slim's, quality ingredients and simple, retro recipes turn a quick airport bite into a satisfying pause before the journey begins. New to T3, Slim's is all about the retro charm that makes dining here really nostalgic – just like travel.

STITCH COFFEE

A calm moment in the airport is rare, but Stitch Coffee offers one in every cup. Share a flat white or single origin pour-over with a travel buddy. Every drink celebrates farmers across the coffee belt, making your pre-flight coffee something more than fuel; a small, grounding pleasure before take-off. Blends crafted from single origins, pastries, and a relaxed corner make it easy to slow down.

TASTE OF THAI

Before you head to your gate, Taste of Thai offers a chance to slow down with family and friends, or eat a quiet meal alone. Steaming bowls of Pad Thai, stir fry, and vivid flavours are created to share, perfect for families or groups. Vibrant and approachable, yet rooted in familiar favourites, the menu delivers a taste of Bangkok before the journey begins. This is a culinary adventure before heading off.

THE SUSHI PLATTER

Before boarding, enjoy freshly made sushi crafted from fresh ingredients, complete with balanced flavours and refined presentation. It's perfect for a quick bite or to share with travel companions before your flight. Either pick your own sushi to make your own platter (just the way you like it) or grab and go – perfect for travellers on the move.

TOP JUICE

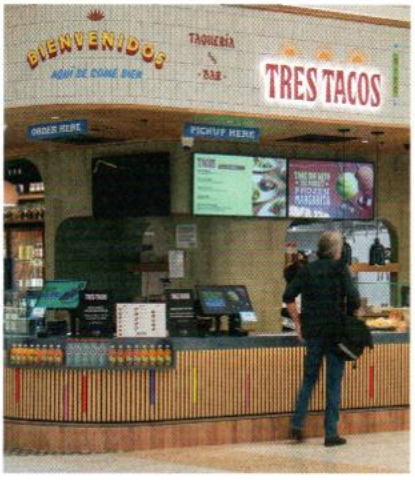
A visit to Top Juice turns waiting into something delicious. Bright smoothies, juices, and fruit bowls offer fresh and simple options for all the family. It's an easy way to recharge before boarding, even if you only have a few minutes before your next flight. Stop by for a quick breakfast option if you've got an early flight.

TASTE YOUR WAY THROUGH T3

Step off the plane or pause before boarding and let your tastebuds explore T3. From comforting favourites to standout signature dishes, there's much to discover at SYD's new dining precinct.

RARA RAMEN

Nothing warms you up like a steaming bowl from RaRa Ramen. Each bowl balances five key elements to create the perfect harmony of flavour, from rich broth to perfectly cooked noodles. Their free-range pork belly chashu is grilled over coals, delivering a hearty, comforting experience that leaves you satisfied and ready to settle into flight mode with full contentment.



TRES TACOS

When travel leaves you hungry, Tres Tacos hits the spot. This casual taqueria brings bold Mexican cooking to T3, with food made in-house from quality ingredients and no shortcuts. Whether you grab a quick bite, linger over drinks, or take it to go, Tres Tacos delivers satisfying flavours that turn waiting time into a deliciously memorable part of your journey.

LOULOU

For a taste of Paris before takeoff, Loulou brings traditional French flavours to your pre-flight linger. From freshly baked breads and buttery viennoiserie to classic dishes and carefully selected wines, Loulou blends Parisian charm with contemporary bistro flair. It's the perfect spot to savour honest, comforting French food before or after your travel adventures.

TASTE OF NOSTALGIA

Carry artistry and memory home with Penfolds x Troye Sivan.

Penfolds has paired its iconic Bin 389 with the artistic vision of Australian artist Troye Sivan for its first-ever design collaboration. Each limited-edition 750ml gift box becomes a keepsake, hand-wrapped in tissue and marked with one of twenty images from Troye's personal camera roll; a memory held in time. Whether you're picking one up as a gift or taking it home from Sydney Airport, it's a piece that lets you carry artistry with you.

The 2023 Bin 389 Magnum takes the collaboration further, becoming sculptural art. Designed with Troye Sivan and handcrafted by South Korean artist Rahee Yoon, each piece is entirely unique, encased in translucent red and white resin. Warmth and nostalgia ripple through its form, echoing the way memory shifts and deepens, while the wine inside remains bold, balanced and celebratory. Whether presented as a gift or treasured as a personal memento, each bottle is a collectible release made for memories that journey with you.
